GIRL GRABBED FROM FARM HOME NEAR HERE

'Veep' and Mrs. Hadley Are Husband and Wife

Quiet Wedding Held in St. Louis Is Simple Affair

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 18—(AP)—Vice President Alben W. Barkley and Mrs. Carleton S. Hadley were married today in a ceremony climaxed a romance that has been in the public spotlight for the past four months.

The vice president who will be 72 next Thursday, and his attractive bride of 38, were wed by Bishop Ivan Lee Holt of the Missouri area of the Methodist Church.

Mrs. Hadley, who first met the vice president on a cruise down the Potomac last July, wore a smartly tailored woolen suit of "Barkley blue."

Only thirty-three members of the immediate families and newsmen were in the chapel of St. John's Methodist Church when the ceremony began with the familiar words, "Dearly beloved, we are gathered here in the sight of God..."

Newsmen outnumbered the relatives.

The bride did not promise to "obey" the vice president. The Methodist marriage ritual hasn't included that word for ten years.

They joined hands as they were pronounced man and wife. The Bishop addressed them as "Alben" (Please turn to Page Twelve)

Europe Aid Paying Off. Ohio Lawmaker Says

By G. MILTON KELLY
WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—(AP)—Rep. John McSweeney (D-Ohio) says a three months tour of Europe has convinced him the Marshall Plan is paying dividends in the form of weakened Communist influence in western Europe.

"It is difficult to measure the tangible effects of a program such as the Marshall Plan," McSweeney ey told a reporter. "But I did see tangible evidence of a definite decline in Communist strength in the western European countries I visited."

"Communist reverses in their elections, especially in Austria, show that, and I give much of the credit to the Marshall Plan."

McSweeney's tour carried him through Ireland, where he kissed the Blarney stone, and into England, France, Germany, Austria and Italy.

The congressman said he could speak with most authority about Italy, a country in which he spent a year and a half as chief of the welfare division of the U. S. military government and a year as foreign representative of American relief for Italy after the war.

Defense Plans Are Discussed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—(AP)—Diplomats from the 12 Atlantic Pact countries met today to consider secret plans drafted by their military chiefs to defend the western world.

Secretary of State Acheson presides over the meeting—the first working session of the pact council since the nations formally banded together in a defense alliance last April 4.

Diplomatic officials reported the main item of business at the state department meeting is discussion of a single strategic defense plan, which is now ready to outline form for the council's approval.

Truck Crash Fatal

CIRCLEVILLE, Nov. 18—(AP)—A truck collision was fatal yesterday to Benjamin H. McCollister, 65, of nearby Darbyville.

Missing Girl Finally Found; Broke and Tired--Jail No Fun

ATLANTA, Nov. 18—(AP)—The daughter of a Cincinnati business executive, missing for almost a week, was reunited with her relatives today.

But, since last Monday, 16-year-old Dorothy Jennings had learned that a jail is no fun and a railroad station bench can be an awfully hard place to sleep.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. Jennings was found yesterday by policeman Ruby Barrett, "broke, dead tired and sleeping in the restroom at the railroad station."

Mrs. Barrett brought her to police headquarters.

Miss Jennings subsequently was released to her uncle, R. A. Craighead, president of The Progressive Life Insurance Company.

When she left the jail, Miss Jennings was a tired, frightened child. Her fingernails had been bitten almost to the quick.

Interviewed just before her release, the girl said, "I just don't know" to questions about why she left home.

Her disappearance Monday set off a "feared kidnapped" alert in the mid-west which finally led to Chattanooga, Tenn., where she entered a hotel searching for relatives.

A relative said Miss Jennings had been feeling under par for some time and was worried about her studies at an exclusive boarding school.

Girl's Degenerate Killer Captured On Bar Stool Near Scene of Crime

'I Don't Deserve to Live,' He Says and Tells Story; Another Sex Murder Victim Found in Idaho

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 18—(AP)—Muttering "I don't deserve to live," pasty-faced Fred Stroble, 66-year-old baker, braced himself in a county jail cell today for swift grand jury action in the sex slaying of six-year-old Linda Joyce Glucoft.

Stroble, the grandfather of one of Linda's favorite playmates, poured out his sordid story to District Attorney William Simpson as a 48-hour fugitive search throughout the west and into Mexico wound up yesterday on a stool in a downtown Los Angeles bar--about five blocks from Central Police Station.

Simpson said Stroble, formally charged with murder, admitted that he strangled and bludgeoned the pudgy little girl to death when she resisted his improper advances.

"I had been drinking all day--wine. I wouldn't have done it if I hadn't been drunk," Stroble was quoted. Simpson said the ashen, gray-haired grandpa--who liked to buy kids ice cream and candy--then told of enticing Linda into a bedroom of the home where he lived with his daughter, her husband and their two children. The story:

"I was playing with her .... (Simpson said this involved an act of molestation, but not rape) .... when she started to scream. She was resisting me."

"This wasn't the first time. I had played with her once before."

"I strangled her first with my hands, then with a tie. She was quiet. I wrapped her up in the blanket and carried her out to the incinerator. x x x I stabbed her with the ice pick, and then I slammed her with the flat side of the axe six times on the head ....

"Then I went back into the kitchen and got a (butcher) knife. I remembered a trick I learned while watching the bull fights in Mexico. I stabbed her in the back, just below the skull, between the shoulder blades. That makes death come easily and fast."

"The little girl did not suffer too much. She was dead within eight or ten minutes."

That was about 5 P. M. Monday, Stroble said. Linda's body was found the next morning and the search started.

Confession Recorded

Speaking in a low monotone as stenographers and a recording machine took his statement, Stroble told how he boarded an interurban train for Ocean Park and stayed in cheap hotels at the beach city for three nights.

He said he had thought about suicide, by jumping off the pier, but decided yesterday morning to return to Los Angeles and "give himself up."

He had just returned on a bus and gone into the bar for a glass of beer when a laundryman, Bill Miller, spotted him and told rookie traffic policeman, Arnold W. Carlson. Carlson confirmed the identification and Stroble submitted without protest.

"I don't deserve to live," Simpson quoted Stroble at one point. "Any man who would do a thing like that doesn't deserve to live."

"I figure I'd have to pay in the next world, so I might as well pay in this."

Denies Other Killings

The only time the little baker showed emotion was when he was asked, "did you kill anyone else?" "My God, no!" he spluttered. "It's bad enough this way."

Simpson said Stroble, a bond jumper on a previous charge of molesting a 10-year-old girl last (Please turn to Page Twelve)

Baby Burned Fatally

Workers Return to Jobs
CLEVELAND, Nov. 18—(AP)—The Chesapeake & Ohio Railway has ordered 5,307 workers back to their jobs since the end of the coal and steel strikes. Another 681 were called back yesterday.

Home-made Plane Takes Off -- Alone
AKRON, Nov. 18—(AP)—George Mazak spent three years building an airplane out of spare parts. Yesterday it took off--without Mazak.

He had started the engine and removed the wheel chocks. Before he could get into the cockpit the machine started flying, crashing into a plum tree.

After surveying the damage, he announced he's begin rebuilding the craft.

Next time he hopes to be in it on takeoff.

Another is a new American appeal direct to the communist government at Peking to free the American diplomat and permit him and his whole staff to leave Mukden as soon as possible.

President Truman told a news conference yesterday that he thinks the communist treatment of Ward is an outrage.

The Consul General, Ranking American diplomat in Mukden in Manchuria, was arrested along with four staff members on Oct. 24. The communist radio said he was accused of having physically beaten a Chinese employee of the Consulate in a wage dispute.

The American Government has had no direct word from him since. Other members of the consulate staff have been permitted

Mine Operators Irked By President's Delay

By HAROLD W. WARD

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—(AP)—President Truman's statement that he will use the Taft-Hartley law in the coal dispute if there's an emergency brought an operator cry today that there already is one.

Mr. Truman took his stand at his news conference late yesterday; he would not say whether he thinks an emergency would come with another walkout of the miners Nov. 20. That is the end of the present working period decreed by President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers.

Joseph E. Moody, president of the Southern Coal Products Association replied from Lexington, Ky. that "there already is a national emergency."

Moody added in a speech that Mr. Truman "obviously is up against a Nov. 30 deadline even though he denies the existence of a national emergency."

Mr. Truman's stand--keeping out of the dispute for the present--left the way open for a new peace meeting between Lewis and the operators before the present truce runs out. However, no immediate conference was arranged and Moody said he saw no present hope for resuming contract negotiations.

Daring Young Man On Flying Truck

XENIA, Nov. 18—(AP)—Harold Rosen was the man on the flying trailer-truck yesterday. Only he had the flying trapeze act trimmed forty ways.

In the first place, driver Rosen said, his brakes failed on a half-mile hill outside Spring Valley. Almost simultaneously, a gasoline fuel valve inside the cab of his giant tandem vehicle caught fire.

The 36-year-old driver hung precariously to the steering wheel while his brakeless truck and fire roared through Spring Valley at 70 miles an hour.

The truck stopped, finally, on the opposite side of town. The fire was put out by firemen. "Man, was I scared," chattered Rosen.

Mr. Truman surprised most people watching the coal situation by flatly stating he would not step in until an emergency arose, and was relying on the Taft-Hartley act in that event. The law provides for an 80-day court injunction to keep production going if necessary to the public welfare. He has used the law before although it was passed over his veto.

Most of the president's advisers had suggested the appointment of a fact-finding board that would look into the dispute and recommend a solution. Mr. Truman had done this in the dispute between CIO and President Philip Murray and the steel industry.

The Taft-Hartley act provides for appointment of a board of inquiry incases where the president finds a threat to national safety. It would be without power to recommend a settlement but its findings of fact would be made public. After the report the president would ask Attorney General McGrath to seek a court injunction against a strike.

Under the acts, detailed machinery, the coal miners would have to stay in the pits for 80 days after Dec. 1, if Mr. Truman chose the Taft-Hartley weapon to deal with Lewis and got an injunction.

Prison Gang Escapee Loses Freedom Plea

CLEVELAND, Nov. 18—(AP)—Federal Judge Emérich Freed has dismissed a plea for freedom by Frederick F. Fox, 21. Fox ran away from a Florida prison gang a year ago.

But Fox's lawyers, Morris Morgenstern and Bernard B. Drenfeld, said the ruling does not mean Fox's case is lost. They said they are contemplating an appeal or hearing on the legal point cited by Freed.

In his ruling yesterday, Freed pointed to a United States supreme court action 10 days ago. The high court, in that case, reversed a court of appeals ruling settling another prison fugitive, Leon Johnson of Georgia, free.

There has been no official information as to what the Mukden communists really intend to do with the American diplomat.

Chinese Holding American Consul

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—(AP)—New efforts to end the imprisonment of consul General Angus Ward by the Chinese Communists--termed an outrage by President Truman--apparently will be based on the power of the pen instead of the big stick.

One possible move by the State Department is dispatch of a note to Moscow asking Russian intervention with the Red Chinese Government.

Another is a new American appeal direct to the communist government at Peking to free the American diplomat and permit

him and his whole staff to leave

Mukden as soon as possible.

President Truman told a news conference yesterday that he thinks the communist treatment of Ward is an outrage.

The Consul General, Ranking American diplomat in Mukden in Manchuria, was arrested along with four staff members on Oct. 24. The communist radio said he was accused of having physically beaten a Chinese employee of the Consulate in a wage dispute.

The American Government has had no direct word from him since. Other members of the consulate staff have been permitted to send him and his four aides food and clothing for which they have been given receipts. Their reports to the State Department on the alleged incident which caused the arrest have been suppressed by the communists.

The American government has been unable to obtain any explanation direct from the Chinese Communist authorities at Peking. In fact those authorities simply ignored a letter they received from Consul General O. Edmund Clubb asking Ward's release.

There has been no official information as to what the Mukden communists really intend to do with the American diplomat.

Child's Parents Being Hunted In Three States

Daughter Snatched Out of Arms of Mrs. Cecil Otey

Police authorities in three states were alerted today to pickup a trio which late Thursday forcibly took blonde, blue-eyed Bonnie Linkfield from a farm home near Washington C. H.

Sheriff Orland Hays said the trio took the child from Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Otey and eluded a dragnet which had been set up for them by Sheriff Hays and other police authorities.

Wanted for illegal seizure of the child are her parents, Lawrence Linkfield, his wife, Eileen and her sister, Betty.

Prosecutor Clark Wickensimer said Friday charges of "child stealing" were filed against the trio in Justice of Peace S. P. Ludwick's court.

Prosecutor Wickensimer also said that charges of trespassing and making malicious threats, and possibly malicious destruction of property, will be filed against the two women.

Meanwhile the search for the three spread into southern Ohio, Kentucky and West Virginia.

According to Sheriff Hays, the trio appeared at the Otey home about 4 P. M. Thursday Mr. and Mrs. Otey and the child were absent at the time. Otey's mother, who is ill, was alone in the house.

Sheriff Hays said Mrs. Linkfield and Linkfield's sister stormed into the house without knocking; threatened to kill Mrs. Otey and tore the telephone from the wall. They remained in the house some 15 minutes until Mrs. Cecil Otey, who was returning from Washington C. H., drove up to the house with Bonnie.

Mrs. Otey said Linkfield came up to the car and seized Bonnie.

He had once deserted the child and left her in Mrs. Otey's care for many months.

Struggle Takes Place

Mrs. Otey grabbed the child and wrestled her away from Linkfield, who again seized the little girl and forcibly took her from Mrs. Otey. She then ran to the Linkfield car. He, his wife, and sister leaped into the car and dashed away with the child screaming for help.

Mrs. Otey, thoroughly unnerved by the experience and removal of the child, to which she and her husband have become greatly attached, drove to the road and called a neighbor boy. The boy drove the remainder of the way to a neighbor's farmhouse, and called the sheriff office.

The elder Mrs. Otey was so unnerved by the threats and actions of the two women that she was placed under the care of a physician.

Sheriff Hays notified the state highway patrol and other officers, and sought to pick up the trio but to no avail.

Bonnie some months ago was awarded to the Oteys until further disposition was decided upon, when the Linkfields filed an action in common pleas court here in an effort to obtain possession of the child.

Lawrence Linkfield, a taxi-driver from Chesapeake, near Portsmouth, stopped at the Hotel Washington here in March, 1948, with his three-year-old son and daughter, Bonnie, then one year of age with him.

He asked Mrs. Otey, then employed at the hotel, to take care of Bonnie over night.

Takes Child Home

Mrs. Otey took the child home with her but Linkfield failed to show up the next day.

It was not until several weeks later that Linkfield called by long (Please turn to Page Twelve)

Socialized Medicine Doomed in Congress

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—(AP)—Rep. Priest (D-Tenn.), a key man in the matter, said today President Truman's compulsory health insurance program "hasn't got a chance" in the next session of Congress.

Priest is a member of the Democratic high command in the House and chairman of a commerce subcommittee handling health legislation.

He told a reporter he doesn't think the health insurance plan even can get through the committee.

• God Is Impartial

By ROY L. SMITH

In the state of Mississippi there is an extremely interesting custom that has come to have all the authority of law. Each new governor of the state, upon being inducted into office, is allowed to go to the state prison farm and choose any number of servants he may think he needs to maintain the governor's household in the executive mansion, which is one of the most historic buildings in all the southland.

When the late Governor Tom Bailey came into office, he delegated the responsibility for choosing the house servants to Mrs. Bailey, a woman of rare grace and charm, and one eminently fitted to preside over the social functions for which a governor of a state is responsible.

It was a further condition of this custom that if the servants gave satisfactory service during the time they served in the governor's mansion, they were to be given a full and complete pardon when he went out of office at the end of four years, that being the full length of time any governor is allowed to serve in the state of Mississippi.

When Mrs. Bailey went out at the appointed time to the state farm to choose her servants, the warden and the guards brought before her nearly two hundred men and women, every one of whom was serving a life sentence for one crime or another. It came then her responsibility to pick the nine she needed from this great company.

In telling the story later to some friends, she said, "I have never gone through so heart-breaking an experience in my life. In my hands and choice there rested the chance to give freedom and liberty back to nine people. Each one who appeared before me recognized the issues with a terrible clarity. And in their desperate desire for a pardon they begged and pled with me that I should choose them. They made the most sweeping promises. They told me of families and loved ones outside whom they could see once again if I gave them the chance. They implored me with all the desperation of doomed souls. For months afterward I would be awakened sometimes in the night by visions of some of those poor wretches beseeching me to choose them and thus give them another chance at life."

The Free Grace of God
This week's Sunday school lesson tells the story of the free grace of God which is available to every man and woman on the face of the earth. "Ho, everyone," the scripture says. "There is no limit, no favoritism, no chance no restriction. Mrs. Bailey was limited in her choice to nine persons out of nearly two hundred. The full grace of God, according to this lesson, is offered in abundance to all men."

The Sunday School lesson for November 20: "The Great Invitation," Isaiah 55: 56:6-8

We Are All Lifers

All men are lifers. We are all subject to the same psychological laws, spiritual principles, and moral authority. Evil always has the same effects upon all of us. Habits become our chains, complexes our masters, and attitudes become our overlords. In the New Testament there is a statement to the effect that "to whomsoever you give yourselves as servants to obey, his servants are ye." This is not a result of any vengeful spirit on the part of God, nor is it the fruit of caprice. It is an inevitable result of the working of one of the laws of life. Originally it was fixed as a means through which one might come into possession of divine blessings; but when it has been defiled it turns into a scorpion of revenge.

But Mercy is Also Available

But just as the law is impartial, and the effects of sin are always inevitable, so the mercy of God is bestowed without discrimination. Every man who is in need, regardless of his deserts, may always be assured of the good will of God. This is the guarantee that good religion offers to every sincere soul who is truly penitent and is determined to live an upright life.

Mills was born in Russia-Poland, and raised in a very strict Orthodox Jewish home where he was taught to observe the traditions and teachings of the Rabbis. After witnessing many persecutions during World War I, his family escaped Poland in 1921 and came to America.

Later, Mills entered the business world and for several years he managed a large business establishment in a small Ohio city. He first became acquainted with the Christian message when some friends invited him to hear a missionary of the American Board of Missions to the Jews. A short time later he and Mrs. Mills were baptized into the Christian faith.

Rev. Mills is now a missionary to his people under the support of the American Board of Missions to the Jews. He also speaks to Christian congregations on the many-sided Jewish problem, about his own experience of conversion to Christianity and concerning the world-wide work of the mission with which he is identified. The public is invited.

Songfesters To Gather Again Soon

Old tunes will be brought to life once again as the informal songfest group here gathers Tuesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wipert.

This time the music and fun will begin at 7:30 P. M. in the Wipert home on the CCC highway about eight miles west of Washington C. H.

An all request program is being planned for the affair. For this reason, all who plan to come are asked to have a couple of numbers in mind that they would like to hear.

Mrs. Wipert pointed out that there could be requests for the group or individuals to sing and that there will be some sort of "honor" code whereby the people must carry out these requests.

At the beginning of the evening, the songfesters will write down their requests on slips of paper. After warming-up with a few familiar songs, then these requests will be drawn from a hat to fill out the program.

Anyone interested in a friendly evening of singing is invited to join in at the Wipert home. At the last gathering, a few newcomers swelled the group to 40 voices.

Organized recently to revive the old custom of musical get-togethers in the friendly atmosphere of a home, the songfest group has proven quite popular around here.

of Mrs. Martha Earley, assistant hostesses will be Mrs. Harry Theobald, Mrs. Clara Theobald and Mrs. Pearl Gordin. Roll call will be answered by telling something you have learned the past month. Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Rowand were Miss Zora Silkmitter, Mrs. Lettie Freid-hostesses, Mrs. Della Theiss, Mrs. Orpha to Pleasant and Miss True of Germantown. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Allison of near Washington C. H., were Monday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hoer & family.

Our telephone is the life-line of our business. We are ready to answer it any minute of the 24 hour day.

Coffee, Gold, Speculation and Rumors

Most of us often wonder just how much of our high prices is due to high costs of production, and how much may be due to speculators.

Right now most people are questioning the coffee situation. The price is high and reports are that it may go higher.

One of the worst evils of old-time market speculation was the use of false rumors to bring about artificial trends in prices. Sometimes this resulted in creating profits for un-

Poor Guessing

In the not too distant past, there was much speculation on the future of Russia. Some Americans and some Europeans as well offered the theory that Russia was basically a weak nation, and that it would not survive the first blows of adversity. They looked for the Soviet Union to collapse before any major threat, and the difficulties experienced by Russian military forces in the expedition against Finland prior to the recent war led them to believe that the Red Army would be a pushover. The results of the German campaign in Russia were a shock to all such theorists. There is no longer any tendency to discount Red physical strength.

We are still given the same kind of poor advice about Russia in the political sphere. Too many "experienced observers" are still talking about "internal trouble" when Stalin leaves office. They are giving out rumors of dissension of the most misleading character. The plain fact is that Russia will continue its dominant role in eastern Europe, regardless of who heads its government so long as we maintain the inconsistent policies of recognition to one Communist satellite and animosity to others. If we are ever to reestablish the tradition of liberty in the world we cannot achieve it by playing games. China's fall is a monument to this policy.

scrupulous speculators who started the rumors.

Now many are asking, is this evil practice, never wholly absent from market activities, undergoing a brisk revival?

Two recent affairs are grounds for raising the question. One was the widely spread rumor that the price of gold would be raised by the United States. Apparently this story had no foundation at all except someone's desire to stimulate market activity in gold and gold shares. The other affair was that of coffee. Tales of impending shortage did have some small foundation in the supply situation, but the prospect did not by any means justify runs which were stimulated, the encouragement to hoarding and the rapid upsweep of prices.

Someone took advantage of a relatively unexciting situation to create the rapidly changing, confused market situation in which the skilled and knowing speculator makes hay.

Those who manipulate the market by false rumor give no thought at all to the damage which may be caused by their machinations. In the case of the gold price rumor, the damaging effects extended far out into world trade, and to the prodigious efforts this nation is making to assist Europe toward recovery. Is there not some way to prevent such exploitation of falsity?

Who is able and willing to give the people the truth?

Speaking of strikes, and the mess management and union leadership both got themselves into recently, something like 150,000,000 Americans wish both sides would learn that it is far more important to face facts than it is to save face.

Amid left-wingers and right-wingers where does the ambidextrous lot fit in?

What Tires Tired Businessman?

NEW YORK — (AP) — What makes the tired businessman tired?

"His office," said Leonard Hutton, interior decorator.

"A man's office should be like his den at home—comfortable and relaxing.

"But what is the average office like? It has an oversized desk—that's to show he's an important man—a swivel chair, two stiff chairs for visitors, and a leather-covered sofa.

On the wall is a map of the United States—with flags stuck in it to impress his customers with how many salesmen he has across the country.

Hutton clucked disapprovingly.

"It's too sober—too dull. It gives him no life. Badly designed rooms make people tired and nervous—but they don't realize why. A man can work more efficiently, and make a better impression on his associates, if his office doesn't look like an office.

Hutton is full of concrete suggestions to put a littleumph in the American business office. He feels it should have some music, a hidden bar entertaining prospects, no glaring lights, and colorful draperies that can be drawn automatically—by pushing a button.

"And no wall maps—good pictures or personalized photographs," he said. "Nor do you have to have stiff heavy chairs just because some crazy guy decided Gothic was a good style.

"You could have comfortable chairs arranged in a friendly seating group. Conference tables are no good. Who ever felt at ease at a conference table?

If the business man must have files in his office, Hutton said, they would be recessed into the walls.

"Files only remind the visitor he ought to be back in his own office working. How can you sell him an idea if he isn't at ease?"

Hutton thinks the tired businessman doesn't fare much better when he goes home to rest from his dingy office.

"He comes into a living room 'decorated' exactly in a what-d'you-use-these-days manner. Then the poor man has to sit in some uncomfortable reproductions of some ugly style that never was a style but just a period.

"There is no place for him to lie down, because his wife won't let him rest on her good living room sofa or on the bed—the bedspread might get wrinkled.

"So the man's unhappy at his office, unhappy at home—and that's why so much business is done in restaurants and cocktail bars."

Hutton, who recently decorated the Austrian Embassy in Washington, is of German birth. He has a shop on "Mink Lane"—fancy East 57th Street. He believes Americans concentrate too much on decorating their homes to please or impress their friends rather than to satisfy their own taste.

"They do so much to make automobiles comfortable here—and so little to make homes comfortable," he said.

"It is amazing in a country of electric toasters, bottle warmers and refrigerators that the home has been neglected to such an extent people believe they have to buy furniture just because it is old."

Clients make odd requests of decorators. Hutton hasn't lined any walls with fur, but he has done a number in solid leather.

"Once I decorated a home for a wealthy man in Monte Carlo," he recalled. "He lived on a cliff. As a joke I suggested he ought to pump salt water from the Mediterranean into his swimming pool.

"Good idea," he said. "And he did it."

Fears and Hopes of the Young

Talk to almost any young man today, particularly one who has been in the war, and it soon becomes clear that there is a pattern of thought in his generation. It might be stated this way:

1. He wants security; that is, some kind of guarantee from the state that he will not become a derelict at any stage of his life.

2. He is opposed to war and hopeful that he may never again be required to go to war. He is willing to make numerous sacrifices to prevent war. For instance, he favors the Marshall Plan and similar measures in the hope that we can "buy" peace for a prolonged period.

3. The "one world" concept appeals to him and he is puzzled by the fact that "one world" seems to have failed. He does not understand the failure and does not believe that Soviet Russia is altogether responsible but he has developed a new kind of isolationism—that is, that the United States ought to let the Russians take over in Europe and Asia rather than risk a war. He mystically "feels" that the Russian Empire will break up.

These must be something very wrong in the teaching of economics in our colleges, for conversations with students particularly economics majors, produce amazing evidence of a lack of knowledge of simple arithmetic, especially as related to costs. They seem not to understand how governments raise money, the relationship between government expenditures and national production, or of the value of currency as affected by national debt and cost of living.

In one instance, a young fellow said to me that he could not worry about what the effect of present government expenditures might have on the economy, and therefore on his life, a quarter of a century hence. His assumption is that the thing to do is to spend what he believes needs to be spent now and it will all work out later. When I asked what was going to work out later and how, he seemed very puzzled.

I find that very few students know or can remember figures and insist upon talking in generalities. For instance, in one conversation, I raised the point that it costs about $20,000 to provide a job for one man in the steel industry. I asked him how that can be done by little business, if a small, integrated steel company requires a capitalization of about $100,000,000 to start. It was all Greek to him although he had studied economics in one of our greatest universities and got good marks.

If one emphasizes a philosophy of life, a theory of national existence, a stone wall seems to appear. The young men and women say that that is impractical talk. They want to get down to cases. They do not care what Alexander Hamilton or Thomas Jefferson or John Marshall had to say about our government. We deal with what we face today and everything must be dealt with from day to day. When they are asked how a country can base a long-term policy without some philosophy of life and action, the answer is that the world is changing; that the battle is between some kind of Social Democracy and Communism and that Social Democracy is preferable to Communism. But Capitalism is out.

The gist of all this is that a nation can be conquered by ideas as well as by arms. A nation can become a pushover for an enemy once its people lose confidence in its reason for existence. American principles of life, the inalienable rights of the individual, his obligations, his responsibilities, seem not to have been taught or, if they have been taught, they have been little impression on the generation that is about to take over.

In their place is an opportunism, a day-by-day functioning to meet immediate objectives and to achieve immediate ends on the basis of a pessimistic and almost nihilistic disregard of the future of the United States. It is a dangerous reaction to a war in which "one world" was substituted for nationalism. And the danger is all the more frightening when our enemy intensifies his nationalism and his welfare imperialism.

Diet and Health

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

INTUSSUSCEPTION is a long word for a serious disorder which chiefly affects babies under two years of age. In this condition there is telescoping of a portion of the bowel, one part being pushed into the section just below it exactly as a telescope folds together.

The symptoms of this disorder are severe pain in the abdomen, the passage of blood from the bowel, vomiting, and fever. The condition is one which demands immediate attention; therefore a doctor should be called at once whenever any of these things occur.

Immediate Operation

In the past, the common form of treatment has been immediate operation. More recently, a number of patients have been treated by the pressure of fluid introduced through the rectum. It is suggested that when this treatment is given, the patient be put to sleep with an anesthetic and that the procedure be carried out near the operating room so that if operation becomes necessary it can be done without any delay.

In carrying out the treatment, salt solution is allowed to run into the rectum through a tube passed about three inches into the bowel. As the fluid is introduced, it flows rapidly at first and then more slowly. The pressure of the fluid is maintained for from two to three minutes.

Locomotive Used By Hunters Not Wanted by State

JERSEY SHORE, Pa., Nov. 18 — (AP) — The Pennsylvania game commission has decided it won't confiscate a locomotive allegedly used to transport a deer killed out of season.

The fate of the locomotive was determined yesterday after three railroads — M. J. Snyder, Carl Vanemone and E. N. Harter — were fined $150 each on charges of possessing an illegally killed deer and transporting it on a New York Central railroad locomotive.

Pennsylvania law authorizes the commission to confiscate any vehicle used in connection with a violation of the state's game code. After due deliberation, the commission announced it would not press that section of the code.

Labor Curb Asked By Steel Magnate

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 — (AP) — Federal laws to curb the power of labor unions were urged last night by Charles M. White, president of the Republic Steel Corp.

He told 1,700 persons at a dinner of the Economic Club of New York:

"We cannot accept the hazard of labor power being pyramided so that a handful of men, more interested in their own power than in the welfare of the country, can throw our nation into economic shambles."

Because of what he termed labor's monopoly power over major industries, White said "there can be no planning ahead by management."

The Nation Today

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—(AP)—President Truman may move today to prevent a coal strike Dec. 1. He has no legal power to forbid a strike altogether. At best, he can only delay it.

But, using what power he has, he might be able to delay the strike 80 days or even 140 days. That would carry the country through the four worst winter months with a supply of coal.

On Nov. 9, when John L. Lewis called his miners back to the pits after a 52-day lay-off, he said it would be until Dec. 1. After that date he may pull them out again unless:

1. He's reached a settlement with the mine owners. None is in sight. The two sides have been haggling on and off since last May and seem no nearer an agreement now than then.

2. The president acts to prevent a Dec. 1 strike. There seem to be only two ways in which he can do that: (A) By setting up a fact-finding board or (B) by using the Taft-Hartley Act, which Mr. Truman probably would do this.

Ask Lewis and the mine owners (A) to let a fact-finding board, appointed by the president, look into their dispute and (B) agree there'd be no strike or lockout for 60 days while the board worked.

The president has no power to force either side to accept this arrangement. Acceptance would be voluntary. If Lewis or the owners, or both, refused, that would be the end of that idea.

But—then, to prevent a strike Dec. 1, Mr. Truman could trot out the Taft-Hartley Act and declare a national emergency. Then, under that law, and whether Lewis and owners liked it or not, Mr. Truman would have to set up a fact-finding board.

This board almost certainly would report back to Mr. Truman before the Dec. 1 deadline. Then Mr. Truman would take the next step provided for under the T-H law.

He'd ask for an injunction, or court order, forbidding a strike for 80 days. The purpose of the 80-day delay under the law is to give both sides in a labor dispute more time to settle it.

After that 80-day delay, though, Lewis would be free to strike. But these two courses open to Mr. Truman raise some questions:

What's the difference between the fact-finding board which the president could set up without using T-H—if both sides accepted—and the board he'd set up if he used T-H?

The first board would make a recommendation on what it thought was a fair settlement of the dispute.

The T-H board can't make recommendations but its findings are made public. So, in effect, its findings would amount to a recommendation.

Why wouldn't Lewis be willing to accept that non-Taft-Hartley

Veteran Indicted On Traitor Charge

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—(AP)—Attorney General McGrath has announced the indictment of John David Provoo, former U. S. army staff sergeant, on charges of treason.

The attorney general said the indictment was returned at noon (EST) by a federal grand jury in New York City. Provoo has been under arrest there since Sept. 2, when he was discharged from the army.

The indictment is based on alleged treasonous activities in the Philippines and Japan while Provoo was a prisoner of war in the hands of the Japanese.

Federal Employees Reduced Again

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—(AP)—An overall reduction of 62,955 federal employees in four months was reported today by a Senate-House committee, thanks to cuts in civilian employment by the military forces.

Civilian employment in the executive branch of the government totalled 2,057,064 in September, a reduction of 33,045 from the previous month.

It was the fourth month in a row in which the joint committee on reduction of non-essential federal expenditures has listed a drop in federal employees.

fact finding board? He might accept.

But Lewis never has wanted a third party like the government to step into his affairs when there was a chance he might not get what he wanted.

Suppose Lewis and the owners accepted this non-T-H board and agreed, there'd be no strike or lockout for 60 days.

Say the board was set up next Monday. Those 60 days would keep the miners digging coal into the middle of January, helping get the country through the winter.

But suppose at the end of those 60 days in mid-January Lewis refused to accept the board's recommendations. What then?

He'd be free to strike. But wouldn't that be the worst time for a strike—from the standpoint of the country? No, if by then enough coal had been mined to carry the nation through until spring.

But—if Lewis wanted to strike in mid-January and it would hurt the country, then Mr. Truman could use the T-H Act, set up the T-H fact-finding board, get a court order, and delay the strike another 80 days.

That would prevent a strike until April, the beginning of warm weather. But couldn't Lewis defy the court order and let his men strike? He might, but maybe he wouldn't.

He tried that before. He and his union paid $1,420,000 in fines this week for contempt of court in a 1948 walkout. Lewis would think twice before risking that again.

CHARLES COBURN, Gloria De Haven and Glenn Ford represent the family whose happiness is blighted when Janet Leigh separates Glenn from his celebrated doctor father. The drama of their life will be unfolded on the screen of the Fayette Theatre here Monday and Tuesday in the picture entitled "The Doctor and the Girl."

A FUNNY PICTURE—the film version of the radio program "My Friend Irma"—is coming to the State Theatre Sunday. Marie Wilson, the star of the show, takes the role of Irma. Co-stars are John Lund, Dianna Lynn, Don DeFore and the new singing team, Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis.

Convicted General Gets Cold Shoulder

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—(AP)—The government has turned down an offer by former Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers to settle all the wartime tax claims against him for about $50,000 cash.

The offer was advanced several weeks ago by Meyers' attorneys.

It included a proposition that the former air force purchasing chief, now in prison and seeking parole, would plead guilty to a single misdemeanor count in connection with income tax filings of the justice department would

WCS Officers Are Hostesses At Dinner

The officers of the Sugar Grove WCS were hostesses to the members and their families for the annual family night covered dish dinner. The dining room of the church was perfectly appointed in pastel colored decorations. The five long tables at which the guests were seated, were centered with huge nosegays and contrasting streamers ran the length of the tables. Tall, lighted tapers highlighted the setting.

After an enjoyable dinner hour the group assembled in the auditorium of the church for the remainder of the evening. The altar was enhanced by large yellow chrysanthemums and red carnations.

The president, Mrs. Lawrence Black, presided over the short business session during which she welcomed the guests. She also read a telegram from the pastor of the church, Rev. E. E. Frazer, in which he expressed his regrets at being unable to attend.

The usual reports were accepted as read. Mrs. Black appointed a committee composed of Mrs. Eldon Bethards, Mrs. Homer Garringer and Miss Lelia Kruger, to be in charge of the Christmas Cheer gifts for shut-ins. Mrs. Walter Thompson was welcomed into the group as a member.

During roll call each member responded with the number of guests she brought and this revealed a total of 63 persons.

Devotionals were conducted by Mrs. George Anderson. The group sang, "Living For Jesus" and participated in the responsive reading. Prayer was offered by Mr. Anderson. This period closed with the group singing "Savior, Like A Shepherd Lead Us" and "I Would Be True."

The remainder of the evening was in charge of Mrs. Eldon Bethards who had prepared a lovely program. She presented the following: Group singing "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow"; piano duet—"The Marching of the Minute Men" by Mrs. Black and Mrs. Herbert Hoppes; piano solo—"Country Gardens" by George Garringer; vocal solo—"My God and I" by Mrs. Damon Merritt; vocal duet—"The Chocolate Choo-Choo" by Edna Mae and Jo Hoppes; piano duet—

what happened to the price of coffee and why!

DURING the past several years, the world's production of coffee has declined, while consumption has been on the rise. Thus the demand has become slightly greater than supply on a world-wide basis.

In recent months a severe drouth in one major coffee growing country, coupled with hurricanes and floods in other countries, has damaged the crop to be harvested next year. The extent of that damage is not certain, but it appears that early estimates were somewhat exaggerated.

protecting your supply

Many consumers, reading and hearing of this crop damage, have laid away an extra supply in their kitchens. This "run" on coffee in stores has produced a few localized and temporary "shortages."

If you have been limited by your grocer in the number of pounds of coffee you can buy, more than likely that is his voluntary attempt to protect his stock of coffee—and yours—until his next shipment arrives,

Remember, not a pound of coffee is grown in the United States . . . it is an imported commodity. Coffee companies here must depend upon growers in foreign countries for their entire supply,

where coffee prices start

Recently these growers, for the reasons mentioned above, together with other contributing factors, have been in a position to demand—and get—more money for their green coffee than ever before. Thus the prices of green coffees have risen by leaps and bounds. So rapid in fact, has been the climb, that we have been selling coffee to grocers and grocers have been selling to you, at prices below what was called for by the actual prices we were paying for green coffee in the producing countries the same day.

Coffee companies in the United States operate on a volume basis. The profit on each pound of coffee is small indeed. Without a tremendous volume there would be no profit at all. Likewise, the grocers of today sell coffee on a near-cost basis.

The increased price you are paying for coffee originates in the coffee growing countries—not with the roaster or your grocer.

No one can foretell how far this combination of unusual forces may push coffee prices upward, nor how long the situation may continue.

But we at Folger's believe that there is ample coffee on hand and in sight to supply the normal consumer demand for this special Mountain Grown coffee.

and we make this promise

When you buy Folger's Coffee it will be the same wonderful coffee with the individuality of flavor that has always set it apart from all other blends.

Considering how much pleasure a cup of Folger's Coffee gives you—surely you must agree that penny for penny Folger's still provides the most pleasure you can put on your table,

Annual Christmas Seal Sale To Get Under Way Next Week

ELLSWORTH VANNORS DALL, chairman of 1949 Christmas Seal Sale Drive in Fayette County and Paul Strevey, executive secretary of the Fayette County Tuberculosis and Health Association, go over plans for the kick-off dinner for the coming Christmas Seal Drive here. Besides being president of the Fayette County TB and Health Assoc. and chairman of the drive, Vannorsdall is a busy farmer on the Prairie Pike near Bookwalter. (Photo by Jim Strevey)

Tuberculosis still kills 1,000 Americans every week.

With this in mind, the National Tuberculosis Association has launched its 43rd annual Christmas Seal sale to continue the fight against this disease.

The mailing of 1,500,000 to some 6,000 homes in Fayette County is already underway.

The drive here, however, does not officially get underway until Monday night.

At that time the annual kick-off dinner for the Christmas Seal sale will be held in the Washington Hotel Coffee Shop.

Attending the opening affair will be 30 board members of the Fayette County TB and Health Association plus other leaders in the coming campaign.

They will discuss plans and begin organizing the drive at this time, Paul Strevey, executive secretary of the TB Association here, explained.

Each envelope of seals being mailed is accompanied by a letter from this year's Seal sale chairman, Ellsworth Vannorsdall of Bookwalter.

In it the chairman makes an appeal for funds to carry on such prevention work such as the free chest X-ray clinics that were held in Fayette County during the last year.

Since local chapters like the one in Fayette County began their work with money financed by Christmas Seal sales, tuberculosis has been forced down from first to seventh place as a cause of death. The death rate of all people who contract TB has been cut 85 per cent in this time.

Money returned for the Seals has completely financed the work that has made these accomplishments possible.

Of the money that will be raised this year in Fayette County, 96 per cent of it will be used for tuberculosis control work in this area of Ohio. The remaining five per cent is forwarded to the National TB Association.

This year, the traditional seal has blue background.

Depicted on it is a white dove carrying a holly sprig. Inscribed below is the word "Greetings," making the stamps appropriate for Christmas correspondence.

In the letter accompanying each envelope of seals, the seal sale chairman has said:

"Tuberculosis is being controlled more and better each advancing year. By giving you the best information and providing free testing for everyone, TB is feared by few and is being forced back to the realm of rare cases.

"We know you want this victorious fight continued. We also invite you to join in the Spirit of Christmas by buying and using our Christmas Seals."

Expansion Blocked By Competitor in Industry, Charge

NEW YORK, Nov. 18—(AP)—The Glasfloss Corporation, of Stratford, Conn., has brought a $9,000,000 anti-trust suit against the Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corporation of Toledo, O.

The action filed in federal court, claims that Harold Boeschstein, president of Fiberglas, used a wartime government job to damage the Connecticut firm.

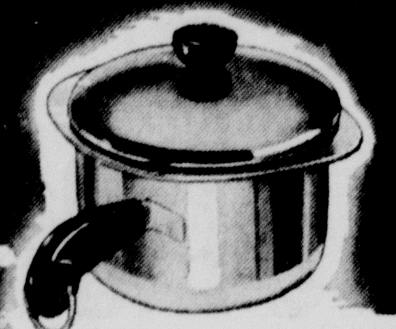

Also named as defendants are two parent companies of Fiberglas the Owens-Illinois Glass Co., of Toledo and New York, and the Corning Glass Works, of Corning N. Y., said to own 91 percent of the outstanding capital stock of Fiberglas.

A long list of officers of the three companies also were named. The defendants have been given 20 days to answer the suit.

The suit claims that Boeschstein, while serving as deputy vice chairman of the War Production Board during the war, "took steps to defeat" a project for expansion of Glasfloss plant facilities.

The suit asked a triple award on alleged damages of $2,500,000 under federal law, and an additional $1,500,000 for alleged violation of common and New York law.

Jackie Robinson Is Most Valuable Player in League

NEW YORK, Nov. 18—(AP)—Jackie Robinson of the Brooklyn Dodgers, batting champion and second base spark of a pennant winner, has been elected most valuable player of 1949 in the National League.

First member of the Negro race to play in modern big league ball, the 30-year-old former UCLA collegian from Cairo, Ga., drew a total of 264 points to 226 for second-place Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals. Robinson said he was "very happy" over his selection.

Twenty four members of the baseball writers association, three from each city in the circuit, acted as a committee. Each listed 10 players in order of their value and 12 of the 24 put Robinson on top.

Musial, who almost caught Robinson on the final stages of the batting race, drew five firsts. Enos Slaughter of the Cards and two of Robinson's Brooklyn teammates, Pee Wee Reese and Carl Furillo, each received two first place ballots. The other one went to lefty Ken Heintzleman, the Phillies' 17-game winning pitcher. Only Robinson and Musial were on every ballot.

On a point basis, with 14 for first, nine for second and so on down to one for tenth, Robinson led by 38.

Four Hot Matches In Industrial Loop

Four more ding-dong matches were staged at Bowland Thursday night when the Industrial League bowlers tangled. There was not one three-game victory in the results.

Warner's Servicemen rang up the highest team total when they won two out of three from Greenfield Merchants with 2678 without benefit of handicap. Only one of the Servicemen was under the 500 mark.

Moore's Jolly Boys tallied 2463 but lost the last two games of their match with the Med-O-Pure Dairymen when their 435 handicap brought their total to 2692.

The Barger Brothers won the first and last games from Henry's Coalmen and the Wise Clothiers took the last two games from the Jeffersonville Merchants after dropping the opener.

Offensive Game Is In Prospect

Ohio and Michigan Use Similar System

BY JOHN F. MAYHEW
ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 18—(AP)—Ohio State and Michigan match strikingly similar offenses here tomorrow in a Big Ten football showdown.

The Buckeyes will throw a single wing offense against Michigan's duplicate with the Big Ten title and a possible Rose Bowl assignment in the balance.

A sell-out crowd of 97,239 will be on hand to see which team has the players to make the plays work.

With the return of halfback Leo Kocerki after a month's idleness because of four cracked ribs, Michigan has an extra-sharp weapon at the wingback spot. The same is true at left half, where Chuck Ortmann passes and runs, and fullback with plunging Don Dufek.

Ohio State has fought to a position of best offensive unit in the conference with a fast backfield built around sophomore whiz, Vic Janowicz, and the passing talents of Pandel Savic.

Observers feel the two teams are about evenly matched on the ground. If this is the case, the emphasis will be on the aerial game where Ohio has a slight edge.

Savic has three fine receivers in ends Dick Schnittker and Ralph Armstrong and halfback Ray Hamilton. The four have operated to make the Ohio passing game the most potent in the Big Ten.

With that is combined an excellent defense unit, a fact that bodes no good for the brilliant Ortmann since his receivers have been spotty all season.

Whatever the outcome, Michigan is sure of one mark. The sell-out crowd will boost total Michigan attendance for the season to 777,482, erasing the 1946 mark of 652,879, and will provide a home season record of 563,363, bettering the 1946 mark of 514,598.

The weatherman could see little change in the snappy November weather.

Michigan was to timber up today on its practice field. Ohio State planned a workout in Toledo, where the Buckeyes will encamp for the night.

Ashland Pro Named

ASHLAND, Nov. 17—(AP)—John Krisko, assistant golf professional at the Columbus Country Club, has been named pro at the Ashland Country Club, replacing Jack Gray, Ashland pro the last eight years. Krisko was Ohio open golf champion in 1946.

Showdown Deferred In Merchant Loop

The Pepsi Cola won three games from the Thumas in Thursday night's Merchants League bowling at Bowland, but the one game lead which hinges was postponed.

Vic Smith's Kute Kiddies, in front by one game, the second place producers are to roll their match at 7 P. M. (tonight) Friday. The explanation was "previous commitments," but Smith said with a grin "it really was lack of seating capacity" for the crowd his team draws.

The two teams of Pennington Bakers just about levelled off in honors for the family. The Reds won two games from the Ohio Bell boys and Blues lost two to the Med-O-Pure Dairymen.

CHAPTER THIRTY-ONE

FUNNY WHAT A glow the possible future had left in Myles' heart.

Was the sneeze Fran had heard tied up with the disappearance of the sheets of blotting paper? Could be that a person watching the el had been soaked to the skin and chilled to the bone, though that wasn't the modern explanation of the reason for a cold.

If the sneeze had seen him shift the blotters from the wood box to his roadster, there was something to Fran's suggestion that a search through the village for a wet suit of clothing might bring results. Why not try it out?

He opened the door in response to the "Mew" of the white Persian on the sill outside the window. He laughed as he carefully spread dish towels on the rack to dry as he had been taught by Mrs. Betsy. He slipped on his coat.

"Oh, you've done them," Fran exclaimed from the doorway. She had changed from the plaid wool in which she had arrived at the Gallery to a cool-looking green linen the shade of the large peridot in the ring on the little finger of her right hand. Pat Sargent in a blue and white checked play suit, beside her, halted him.

"Hi, Myles!" Tweed, the fox terrier, sat on his haunches, wary, beady eyes on the hunched-back white Persian who was emitting threatening warnings.

"What are you doing out so early in the morning, Miss Sargent?" Myles inquired.

"I'm 'sistant to Miss Phillips. She said I might stay. Patricia clutched Fran's skirt as if she feared forcible separation from her.

"She's my number one helper," Fran answered the question in his eyes. "I saw a few minutes of leisure ahead and dashed here to clear up—with Pat's assistance—and I find the dishes done."

"And well done, if you ask me. I'm good. While on the subject I will observe that I am a matrimonial prize: expert dishwasher, as a cook I have a few specialties, and note this, I have never acquired the newspaper-at-breakfast habit. How's that?"

"Sensational. An A-1 reference. Modest about your attainments, aren't you?"

"Jeepers, aren't you two having fun." Patricia's eyes and voice were wistful. "I didn't know anyone laughed or was pleasant in the morning. All the people in our house are cross as two sticks—gee, you should hear Gene—I beat it."

"Tuck this into your thought-box, Pat." Fran caught the child's hand in hers. "I love life, but when I get up in the morning feeling so sour that I take the sunshine out of the day for everyone I meet, a hope the good Lord will remove me from this earthly scene." Vivid color surged to the soft line of her hair as she met Myles' eyes.

"I'm sorry I let myself go."

"I don't want to meet him. I'm off by way of the kitchen door. If you discover anything, remember we are in this mess together. Keep me posted. He's yelling for you again. Beat it. I'll be seeing you."

Where start the quest for the wet clothing, he ruminated when he reached the highway. A plane from the nearby airport roared overhead. Cars of every description swarmed up and down the main street of the village. A low truck with The Theater in large letters on the side was filled with a heterogeneous collection of furniture. Borrowing stage settings? Nat had loaned some from Shore Acres.

"Myles!"

From the curb of the sidewalk hatless Tassie Trent in a purple and white striped cotton morning gown hailed him and waved a stout stick.

"Give me a lift?"

"How come you are caught in this crowd, Miss Tassie?" he inquired when the car was once more in motion and his face, reddened by the protesting horns, had cooled. "You shouldn't have stepped into the street like that, you might have been knocked down. Where do you want to go?"

"Sunnyside. You don't have to bawl me out, Myles. I've learned my lesson, I'll never do this again."

"Are you tired?"

"Tired? My eye, I'm sight-sick. But it's given me an idea. I'll introduce a bill in our legislature requiring every landlord to install a full-length mirror in each room he rents."

"What's the big idea?"

"See that woman on the sidewalk with that harsh hennaed hair, in bright blue halter and shorts?" She pointed with her cane. "If she had had a full-length view of those fat, bare legs, that spare tire of flesh around her middle—"

"For the love of Pete, Miss Tassie, soft pedal. She heard you."

He took advantage of an opening in traffic to shoot ahead. The woman in blue had stepped into the street with every indication that she was about to advance belligerently on her critic with a beach umbrella.

"I hope she did hear me," Tassie Trent's voice was full of fight, but an octave lower. "It may make her think after she cools down. It's disgraceful the way these vacationists, some of them, dress or undress when they come to this beautiful village. They ought to have more respect for the residents. Bermuda has the right idea. Beach clothes for the beach and nowhere else. Did last night's storm do much damage at Shore Acres?"

"A few trees down. How did Sunnyside fare?"

"No casualties unless you count John's drenched suit."

"John? Who's John?"

"Why does that name startle you? A ghost from your guilty past?"

"No ghosts in my past. It wasn't the name that caused the outburst. Didn't you see the man ahead stop short without putting out his hand? For a second I had a vision of this car piling up on him." That would take care of his exclamation. Was he on the trail of the drenched suit worn by the person who had seen him hide the blotters in the wood box?

"Now that explanation is out of the way, Miss Tassie, who is John? A new butler? You haven't lost your spectacular supercilious black, Caesar, have you? He is magnificent and I mean magnificent."

"Certainly not. I am speaking of John Eckhardt, the artist. He's staying with me. You haven't forgotten so soon that you bought his 'Country Lane,' have you?"

Suspect Is Held In Murder Case

CANTON, Nov. 18—(AP)—Canton authorities today jailed a 55-year-old man who admits slugging George L. Neidig to death, then dumping his heavily weighted body in Senacaville Lake.

But the prisoner, Earl O. Blackledge of Canton, insisted he killed Neidig in self defense during an argument, Stark Sheriff Harry W. Grosshaus announced.

Under Blackledge's direction, sheriff's deputies recovered Neidig's body from the southern tip of the Noble County lake last night. It was bound with an old chain and tied to a mine car wheel in about 10 feet of water. The lake is about 50 miles south of Canton.

Baby Killed in Crash

JUNIPER, N. B., Nov. 18—(AP)—Two deer with one shot was the record set today by John Davis of Florenceville, N. B.

Teachers Rule Over Parents

Bloomington PTA Holds Night School

Teachers at the Bloomington School had adults in their classes Thursday night.

The occasion was "School Night" following the regular meeting of the Bloomington PTA.

After eating a typical hot lunch in the school caf and dispensing with their business, the members of the PTA filed into the classrooms for their "instruction."

This consisted of the teachers explaining what they were trying to accomplish in their courses. Some of them also illustrated their material and methods.

Every class that is regularly held during the school day is in session so that the parents could duplicate their children's daily routine.

During their business session, the PTA discussed the purchase of a projector for the school out of revenue from their Halloween carnival.

Several committees were also appointed at the meeting. They were as follows:

Program committee, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Foster, Miss Marilyn Rhodes, Mr. and Mrs. Harold McConaughy, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Craig, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Iden, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Simeri;

Christmas treat, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cunningham, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Mickle, Mr. and Mrs. Wells Reinhold, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Watkins;

Budget committee, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Cowdery, Mr. and Mrs. Carl McCoy, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Nessel. In addition these members will serve with Roy Smith and W. C. Vernon on the committee to look into the purchase of the projector.

Veep, Mrs. Hadley Are Quietly Married

The wedding ceremony, first for a vice president in office, was concluded with the Lord's Prayer immediately after Bishop Holt declared:

"... I pronounce that they are husband and wife together, in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit. Those whom God has joined together, let no man put asunder."

The chapel was decorated with evergreens and the organ had been specially tuned in preparation for the big event. The church is a beautiful structure in the western part of the city.

David M. Barkley of Paducah, Ky., Barkley's son by a previous marriage, was best man, and the only attendant. Mrs. Hadley chose her brother, William W. Rucker of West Palm Beach, Fla., to give her away.

Immediately following the ceremony an informal family luncheon was planned at the home of Mrs. T. M. Sayman, friend of Mrs. Hadley, on Lindell Boulevard, with a limited number of press, radio and television representatives permitted to attend. A three-tiered wedding cake about 2-1/2 feet high had been prepared for the bride to cut.

The newlyweds then planned to leave on their honeymoon for "Shangri-la," as "the Veep" called it. Rumor has it that they are going to Key West, Fla., where they will shortly be joined by President Truman and his family.

After the honeymoon the couple will visit Barkley's Paducah home, "The Angles," and later go to Washington where a new and strange (to her) social whirl awaits the new second lady of the land.

The vice president arrived here late yesterday by plane from Washington. He was met at the airport by Mrs. Hadley and a large crowd of newsmen, photographers and others. With his bride-to-be at the wheel, the smiling Veep drove away in the new $3000 convertible he recently gave her as a wedding gift. A brief wedding rehearsal at the church was followed by dinner at the home of friends.

In addition to the younger Barkley and Rucker, other immediate members of the two families here for the ceremony included Barkley's two daughters, Mrs. Max Truitt and Mrs. Douglas MacArthur II, both of Washington; Mrs. Hadley's two daughters, Anne and Jane, and her mother, Mrs. Estele Rucked.

William Vaughan, civilian aid to the vice president, was a special guest. Mrs. Hadley's father, Roy Rucker, is ill in Kansas City and was unable to attend.

Among presents received by Mrs. Hadley was a $10,000 diamond brooch from a "friend of the vice president." It has 136 round and 36 rectangular stones. Another piece of diamond jewelry, a gem-studded wrist watch, was given to his bride-to-be by Barkley. Among numerous wedding presents received by the couple was one from President and Mrs. Truman.

Barkley and his bride met the night of July 8 last, on a trip down the Potomac River. She was on vacation, visiting friends, Special Consul Clark M. Clifford of the presidential staff, and Mrs. Clifford.

The courtly Kentuckian, whose first wife died in 1947 after 44 years of married life, was immediately impressed. He gave a luncheon for the charming young widow at the Senate and a cocktail party at his Washington apartment.

Shortly afterward he flew to St. Louis for a private luncheon with Mrs. Hadley and a small group of her friends. Soon the news was out. Public interest was intense. It mounted steadily during the courtship of four months.

Degenerate Killer

(Continued from Page One) April, admitted the first time he molested a child was 10 years ago. Since then he has molested four or five other children in the Los Angeles area, he told Simpson.

But Dr. Marcus Crahan, county examiner, said "there is nothing insane about him" after an examination last night.

A grand jury indictment, indicated today, would take the case straight to superior court, without need of preliminary hearing.

ANOTHER ATROCITY

BURLEY, Idaho, Nov. 18—(AP)—Blonde Glenda Joyce Brisbois, "a friendly little girl," was criminally attacked before her body was thrown into an irrigation canal, police said last night.

An autopsy revealed the attack on seven-year-old Glenda, who rode to her death in a dark blue sedan.

The little first grader's body was found yesterday by a friend of the family, 18 hours after she had been kidnapped from near her home.

Hope for a quick capture of the girl's kidnaper faded yesterday after two men, one in Idaho and another in Utah, were picked up for investigation but released after questioning.

Glenda stepped into the car, which police said was driven by a round faced man in his twenties, at 5 P. M. Wednesday. Her beaten body was found yesterday in the canal, one mile southeast of this aroused and angry Idaho farming community of 5,300 persons.

Fayette Grange Elects Officers

Harry Campbell Is New Master for Year

Harry Campbell is the new master of the Fayette County Grange. Meeting at the GAR Hall Thursday night, the Grange members picked Campbell along with a slate of other officers to head the organization during the coming year.

Those elected beside the master were: Glenn D. Moore, overseer; Mrs. John Weade, lecturer; Harold Hewitt, steward; Roger Acton, assistant steward; Mrs. Nellie Chaney, chaplain; Mrs. Doris Diffendal; Miss Helen Moore, secretary; Tom Graves, gatekeeper; Miss Leona Hewitt, Ceres; Mrs. Glenn D. Moore, Pamona and press reporter; Mrs. Harry Campbell, Flora; Roscoe Haines, new executive members.

During the meeting, the members also discussed finding a new home for the Grange. No action was taken, but everyone was asked to consider any possible locations.

The members also accepted the application of Chester Frazier, and appointed him to Jeffersonville for his degree work in full form.

Mrs. Roy Pfeiffer announced the plans for the Grange's Christmas party at their regular meeting next month.

The party will feature a potluck supper and Christmas grab bag.

Hunters Fined For Violations

One Man Tears Up Hunting License

Shelby Johnson, Cincinnati, has decided that he is not going to hunt any more, and tore up his hunting license after announcing his intention of selling his gun and quitting the game for all time.

Johnson's decision came after he had been fined $50 and costs by Police Court Justice R. H. Sites, on a charge of possessing a squirrel out of season.

The squirrel was found secreted in the foot of a rubber boot in the trunk of Johnson's car when it was searched by Game Protector Irvin J. Patrick.

Johnson was reported as being very bitter over the necessity of paying $50 and costs for his violation of the law.

D. C. Fisher, Cincinnati, had two quail in his possession, and the fine in each case was $100, so that he paid $200 and costs for the two quail when he was arraigned before Police Court Justice Sites. He also had been arrested by Patrick.

L. G. Bishop, Morehead, Ky., paid $50 and costs in the same court for hunting without a non-resident license. He had been picked up by Patrick.
